

Texas Eagle Forum

March 2018

Dear Eagles,

When I heard the news that beloved evangelist Billy Graham had passed, my heart kept repeating his now famous words, “My home is in Heaven. I am just traveling through this world.” No one lived that better than Billy Graham. I don’t think Reverend Graham worried about how he would be remembered; he lived a life way beyond himself. He built a legacy that is eternal, but, in doing so, he also made an impact on our nation and culture. A humble man, he was respected by presidents and kings, as well as ordinary people. Through his ministry, millions came to know Jesus Christ. How can we make our lives count? By following Dr. Graham in honoring God, family, and country.

Texas Eagle Forum is thankful for citizen activists like you taking ownership in stewarding Texas, your city, and family. I hope we are equipping you with information in our Torch newsletter, and on our website, www.texaseagle.org. Please let us know the issues that fire you up; we want to hear your ideas and/or solutions. I have learned from being around Eagles that they never lack courage or passion!

Now that the primary election is over, we need you to reach out to those in your circle of influence, and ask them to rise up and join us in using their gifts, wisdom, and strategy to make a difference. Texas Eagle Forum will continue to provide tools for education and stand for truth, especially on the side of life, family, and faith. We will continue to learn and engage in discussions on national security and how it impacts Texas, as well as be a voice on issues that affect our daily lives and future provision for our families, such as property taxes, education, health, etc.

Texas Eagle Forum has two new exciting projects with which we hope you will become involved:

First, we are participating with a national coalition working to “Save The Persecuted Christians” (savethepersecutedchristians.org). One in 12 Christians worldwide experience persecution, including death, rape, imprisonment, forced marriages, and physical violence. We hope to raise awareness in our churches and halls of government to address how we, as a people, can help persecuted Christians in the Middle East, China, and North Korea.

Second, we are supporting the Texas attorney general’s office by providing information and training on how to stop the heinous act of human trafficking. We will be hosting viewings of a new tool provided by the attorney general’s office and ask for your support in getting the word out. Please join us to hear more about what we can do to STOP HUMAN TRAFFICKING—training dates and locations TBA.

As I close, I want to share some exciting news! We are building a team to work on the aforementioned issues and projects, and are looking for people to help lead and work alongside us. If you are interested, please contact me at trayce.bradford@gmail.com.

I wish words could convey how much I appreciate your heart for our great State and Nation. Without your prayers and financial support, we would not be able to keep standing strong. Bless you!

Pressing onward,

Trayce Bradford
